To Mould Student Opinion into a National Influence

The second post-war convention of the National Federation of Canadian University Students will be taking place in Toronto in the coming Christmas holidays, and it is hoped that the McGill Committee will play an important part. We feel that every student should pause for just a moment before passing on to the page-four jokes, to read this article and realize just all the possibilities that this Convention does entail.

N.F.C.U.S. was once one of the most important institutions. Nearly all of the present important Inter-University functions find their origin in its activities, such as the Canadian University Press, Inter-Collegiate Debating Schedules, etc. The name and achievements of N.F.C.U.S. were as well known to undergraduates as are the present questions of vets' elections and Dalhousie tennis teams.

All this has now been largely forgotten, as N.F.C.U.S. was inactive through all the war years. Yet N.F.C.U.S. has been revived for over a year now, and there is little reason why it should not soon regain its former prestige.

A moment's reflection will point out the number and urgency of the student questions which should be handled on a dominion-wide scale. Student problems, particularly in such fields as employment and housing, are now issues of national importance. The maintenance of international peace de-

FILM SOCIETY IGNORES SNOW

Java-Bali Report Not Consistent With Weather

By N. AEMIC

They must have known that we were going to have our first real taste of snow yesterday. Otherwise they would not have chosen the film "Java-Bali Report": a film of naked, gleaming bodies; of brilliant sunshine and rolling surfs; of history and sociology, economics and politics.

By this time you must have deduced that we are referring to The McGill Film Society's presentation of David Griffin's report on the Pacific Islanders, which took place yesterday at 5 p.m. in Room 250 of the Biology building. They repeated the showing at 8.15 p.m. in the same place, but they must have known that we were not going to be there. For at the latter showing they had an extra film: "Herring Hunters of the Pacific". Not only that, they also served refreshments during intermission. We'll bet you the price of admission—which was free—that this explains why there were about 300 students at the later showing and only approximately 200 at the 5 p.m. premiere.

We won't bother to tell you what the films were about; Tuesday's Daily carried a very thorough report, and we would merely be rehashing what somebody else wrote. And besides, our artistic temperament would simply refuse to work on a rival reporter's creation.

Next Tuesday, Dec. 3, at the same time, 5 p.m., and at the same place, the Film Society is going to present another program: The principle chef d'oeuvre will be "Private Life of a Cat", which they claim, is self-explanatory. "Crafts of the Fire" tells the story of glass-blowing, and "Pheasant Fever" is a technicolor film about pheasant hunting.

Today at 5 p.m. the Montreal Neurological Society will hold a meeting in the Lecture Amphitheatre of the Neurological Institute. The subject of the lecture will be "Cardiac after potentials and their functions", and it will be given by Dr. Hebbel E. Hoff, Professor of Physiology.

Speaking Tonight

DR. ALAN VALENTINE, president of the University of Rochester, who will deliver the last of the 1947 Lectures on Living series tonight, at 8 p.m., in Moyse Hall. Sponsors of the lectures are McGill University and the National Committee for Mental Hygiene for Canada.

Since his arrival a month and a half ago, it is reported that his oration has been tremendous. He will continue to speak at other leading Canadian cities.

Tickets for the lecture will be on sale at His Majesty's box office only. Prices range from .95 to $1.95.

THIS SENTENCE SAYS NOTHING

Reason For Silence Revealed Below Read On

There we were, comfortably seated in soft chairs, discussing the policy of our department when one of our associates interrupted with an off-heard order: "Another bomb please, Eric." After that trenchant remark, we continued on with our plans for the forthcoming campaign.

It can easily be seen from the above that our organization is of a very informal and friendly nature, and that our setup is by no means static. In fact, it might even be termed fluid. There is, however, one obstacle in our way. Our membership is low, very low! One of our members thought that he had the situation completely under control one evening. After his tenth drink, he firmly announced that the membership had trebled, in fact he thought that I was twins. This did not solve the problem! After drinking copious quantities of tomato juice, we have discovered the solution. YOU! Yes, you are the person we are looking for. You do not have to be able to type, swim, discuss the economic situation in lower Ubangiland, or even have an Arts degree. All you have to do is to become a member of the Publicity Department of the Red and White Revue 1947.

Engineers to Discuss Housing; Riley Speaks

John P. Riley, M.A.S.C.E., will speak to the meeting of Engineering Institute of Canada tomorrow evening at 8.15 on the subject "The Planning and Construction of Large Scale Housing."

In his address Mr. Riley will discuss fundamental principles of design which have evolved through experience, improvements which have been made and improvements still being sought; trends in construction methods which have influenced design, and cost trends compared with the pre-war period. Lantern slides will be shown.

Revue in View

Producers to Interview Student Talent From 12 to 5 in Office

The Red and White Revue is conducting talent interviews today from 12.00 to 5.00 in the Revue Office, which is situated in the basement of the Union.

Eugene Jousse, the Producer, will interview any student who feels that he or she has something to offer in the way of entertainment, and would like to appear in the Revue. It was stressed that all kinds of talent was needed to appear in the show, and that students are welcome to come down and discuss their particular line of entertainment.

Specialty numbers are required to appear in spots in the production, including dancers, acrobats, vocal groups, comedians, and vocalists. The Production Board hopes that, through the medium of these interviews, the best talent on the campus will be discovered and put in the show.

Students who have prepared, or have ideas for, topical skits, should also come down and discuss the matter over with Revue representatives.

Once the script writers know what talent is available, the general plan for the show can be made, and the book written. Auditions will be called at a later date to judge the worth of the material presented.

It was pointed out that since the Revue must go into rehearsal right after the Christmas holidays, all talent must be presented now, and therefore this will be the last chance for students to get into the production.

Deem Student Funds Vital for Auditorium

J. Macdonnell Guest Speaker At P.C. Club

"Progressive Conservatives on the March" is the topic of an address by J. M. Macdonnell, M.C., K.C., M.P., who participated in both the successful Portage and Parkdale by-elections, at an open meeting of the Progressive Conservative Club in the Union Ball Room this afternoon at 4.30.

Mr. Macdonnell, who is the financial critic for his party in the House of Commons, was elected President of the National Progressive Conservative Association last March. He was one of the leaders in the rejuvenation of the Progressive Conservative Party at the Winnipeg convention in 1942. A graduate of Queen's University, he was also the Rhodes scholar for Ontario in 1905. Called to the Bar of Ontario in 1911, he left his law practice to go overseas and had a very distinguished record during the First World War, in which he served as an artilleryman, being awarded the Military Cross and the Croix de Guerre for gallantry.

Mr. Macdonnell has maintained an interest in university activities and served as Dominion representative on the Rhodes Scholarship Committee for many years, and also as Chairman of the Board of Governors of his old alma mater, Queen's University.

Forsaking an active and very successful business career to devote his full time to public service, he entered the House of Commons after the General Election of 1945, when he was elected for Muskoka, Ontario, a seat formerly held by the Liberals. He has quickly assumed a position as one of the leading members of the House, and is recognized by many as the counterpart of J. L. Ilsley, the present

Chairman Trivett, of the Rink Auditorium Campaign, in answer to queries regarding the methods followed by Queens University and U.B.C. in acquiring funds, has pointed out that students at McGill start out with very definite advantages. Whereas the McGill Graduates are providing the bulk of the money, the major burden in the case of Queens and U.B.C. had to be borne by the undergraduates themselves.

At Queens, the Chairman of the Athletics Board raised roughly $100,000 by private subscription from a few wealthy graduates. The University provided the site plus an allowance of $50,000 for the old gymnasium. The student body decided unanimously to commit the students of Queens to a payment of $7.00 each year until the ultimate construction cost of $350,000 was raised.

With respect to the current U.B.C. War Memorial Campaign, an approximate figure of $70,000 has been widely used. Actually, the student contribution will end up by being very much more than that. Alumni support proved difficult to organize initially and Government support was nominal only.

Besides staging a Fall Ball ($4,500 net) and the recent Western Campus Beauty Queen Contest Dance ($3,000 net), the U.B.C. students voted to increase their fees by $5.00 per head—for an indefinite length of time. The present enrolment being approximately 8,900, of whom 900 being graduates do not pay Alma Mater fees, this year alone will involve a contribution of $40,000 from this source.

The share in McGill's Rink Auditorium being requested of McGill students, though on a smaller scale, is every bit as important, particularly at this stage in the Campaign," it has been stated.

With an overall total of $370,000 already realized, our $10,000 objective plus 100 per cent. participation will be largely instrumental in

No tickets will be on sale at the agencies the day of the meeting.

Price Controls Named Faculty Debate Subject

"Resolved that all price controls, except those on rents, should be removed" will be the topic of this week's inter-faculty debate, to be held in the Union Ballroom today at one o'clock. Arguing in the affirmative will be "H" Shatan and Clarence Johnston from Medicine. Opposed to this pair will be two Engineers, Colin Spencer and O'Connor Murray. Both these faculties have yet to receive a setback in the current debating series.

EVENLY MATCHED

Medicine defeated Arts & Science in the second debate of the year while the Plumbers have won decisions against R.V.C. and Law. Judges for the debate will be Professor Boulding, Chairman of the Department of Economics and Political Science, Isadore Rosenfeld, President of the McGill Debating Society, and Ed Gauthier, President of the Engineering Debating Society.

Each speaker is allowed seven minutes in which to present his case, the first speaker for the affirmative being given an additional three minutes for rebuttal. Thus, if all debaters are on hand at one o'clock sharp, the debate will be over in time to allow ten minutes of comments and questions from those attending. Debates are always finished by five minutes to two so that those students who have two o'clock lectures need not be late.

James Speaks To Rotarians

Dr. James, speaking to members of the Rotary Club of Montreal yesterday, said that the educational portion of the demobilization and rehabilitation program of the Canadian Government constitutes the greatest educational experiment anywhere on the face of the earth.

The program, in which McGill is playing an outstanding part, has been copied in part by the United Kingdom and the United States. Dr. James said, but it was "peculiarly Canadian and peculiarly McGill." McGill graduates played a leading role in its conception and implementation. Canada, he said, was the first country to provide that 100 per cent. of all veterans, except in the faculties of medicine, who wished to go to college would have the opportunity to do so.

Dr. James said that one of the features that gave most satisfaction at McGill was that some 4,000 veterans had been taken on without any curtailment of ordinary students, whose numbers have also increased over pre-war registration. Staff had increased at McGill, but not by any means in proportion to the student body, and the demand made on the time and ability of the teaching staff was very heavy indeed.

ROTARY CLUB IN XMAS SPIRIT

Stranded Students Are All Invited To Yule Feast

The following letter has been brought to the attention of the Students' Executive Council and The Daily.

Dear Sir:—Some of the members of the Montreal Rotary Club would each like to ask a couple of students from distant places, who are unable to get home during the Xmas holidays, to dinner on Christmas Day.

I should be much obliged if you would let me know the names of any students—boys or girls—who are stranded in Montreal at that time, and would appreciate an invitation of this sort.

Our only desire is that no student should be uncared for on Christmas Day, and we are very anxious to make them all feel that Montreal is wishing to be friendly and helpful to them.

Sincerely,
C. P. MARTIN,
Professor.

The Council feels that any students desirous of accepting this offer should contact Mrs. Tessier in the Union as soon as possible, to enable Dr. Martin and the Rotary members to complete the final arrangements.

Dawson Holds Election Today For President

An election, to decide the successor to Irving Pfeffer who resigned recently as president of the Dawson Arts and Science Undergraduate Society, is taking place today on the St. Johns campus. Nominees for the post are R. S. Bowker and J. I. Porter. Voting will be held in the Gymnasium where polls have been set up on the main basketball floor. Polls are open from 10 a.m. this morning until 4 p.m. this afternoon.

As the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society is the largest undergraduate organization on the campus, it is anticipated by W. D. Hillard, secretary-treasurer of the Dawson Students' Council that there will be considerable interest in the election and that voting will be heavy. As well as acting as president of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society, the successful candidate will also sit as representative of that body on the Dawson Student Executive Council.

A third candidate who was nominated last week, P. D. Henry has declined to run in the election, due to pressure of other commitments.

Dawson Music Night Success

The first musical appreciation night took place recently in the Co-Weds Corner at Dawson. In anticipation of an evening's entertainment, a large number of students flocked to the "Corner", and some even had to sit upon the floor and window sills.

Before the actual musical program began, Dale King, chairman of the social committee called upon the assembled students to choose a president for the club. Unanimously appointed was Joe Fishman who will now, in cooperation with the desires of the members, choose the music to be played at future meetings.

Mr. George Falle, English professor, gave interpretations of the music which composed the evening's entertainment. The program consisted of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto and Rachmaninoff's "Isle of the Dead."

List Reveals Names of Contestants

Names of the nominees for the various representatives to the Students' Executive Council were released last night. Positions contested will be those of Faculty representatives. Also released was a list of Group "A" and "B" nominations for the Scarlet Key.

Elections for all positions will take place on December 10, and the Council has recommended to the individual undergraduates' societies, who will conduct the elections, that polling booths remain open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Dawson students will vote for their representatives, and Peterson residents will vote on the McGill campus. Women students will have two votes—one for faculty representative, and the other for their R.V.C. representative. The individual election officers will decide where the ballots are to be counted. Following is a list of all the nominees:

Stop, Look, and Listen

An informed and enlightened electorate is one of the prime requisites for the proper functioning of our existing democratic processes and yet past elections on this campus have demonstrated that at times the undergraduate body possesses an almost abysmal lack of knowledge about what and for whom it is voting.

During the period of the next few weeks, everyone will be afforded the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the candidates who have been nominated for the Students' Executive Council, the governing body in all matters pertaining to student government. Despite the importance of this group, it is almost safe to say, unfortunately, that not more than half the undergraduates will utilize their election privileges and cast their ballots.

Admittedly, with one out of every two voting, a statistically sound random sample of the desires of the student body as a whole may be obtained but this cannot be offered as an excuse for wanton laziness and neglect on the part of the other half of those attending college, the so-called "leaders of tomorrow."

Far too often, many have attempted to justify their actions by claiming that they didn't know who was running or the candidates' platforms. The pre-election period this year will remove the very loose foundations to this feeble argument, since adequate publicity will enable each and every student to find out just who each candidate for the Council is and what they represent.

Certain criteria form a fairly adequate guide concerning the potentialities of the nominees. Previous activities on the campus are often adequate measures of worth, but should not be considered the sole guide in determining the vote. The platform which each candidate stands pledged to carry out is of importance and should indicate whether or not the vote-seeker has sufficient insight into the real problems of student government.

Above all else, every attempt should be made to avoid being stampeded into voting against one of those running because the candidate supposedly represents some particular bloc or faction. The vote should be cast FOR a candidate and not AGAINST the nominee. — H.S.

John Gielgud Here In Wilde Revival

Oscar Wilde's plays, stories, poems and epigrams are having a post-war revival both in Europe as well as in America. His play "Lady Windermere's Fan" is being shown in London's Haymarket Theatre, as well as in New York. John Gielgud, the brilliant English Actor, has made London forget about her drab appearance with his portrayal of Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest".

Not so long ago, Hollywood took over Wilde with "The Picture of Dorian Grey" and recently Hesketh Pearson, a close friend of Mr. Wilde, has written a book entitled "The Life of Oscar Wilde". This revival of the controversial Victorian writer whose humour, tales and epigrams wove intricate patterns on his intimate friends and later audiences, is helping the world laugh by having it laugh at itself. Wilde wished to say what the complacent desired to ignore and was very conscious of the ethical standard which he was overturning. Wilde's doctrine is cleverly conveyed by implications rather than assertions.

Montreal will have a chance of enjoying Wilde's best play "The Importance of Being Earnest" when it begins a week's engagement at His Majesty's theatre starting on January 27. This comedy is already firmly established as a classic and has been produced in many European countries where Wilde's popularity is second only to Shakespeare's.

John Gielgud along with his famous Repertory Company are scheduled to perform Wilde's comedy in London and Toronto before it arrives here in Montreal.

This tour of the famous English actor and his company has been engineered by Brian Doherty, the author of the successful play "Father Malachy's Miracle". He is the General Manager of a newly formed organization whose plans are to promote and sponsor tours of Canada by outstanding theatrical companies.

"The Importance of Being Earnest" is the first of a series of productions they plan to bring to this country. Negotiations are already under way with noted managements in London, Dublin, and New York to bring other famous companies after Mr. Gielgud's tour.

Mots Cuits

—by Ptolemy

Poets one often assumes rarely have a sense of humour. If they produce manifestations of wit, they are labelled insincere; nor may they mention the nether subjects in anything but the vaguest of fluff-hushy words. Recently this column has been subtly censured for alleged obscenity—the reference being to the Nashian couplet of the mad artist, O.C.M. Perhaps we were wrong to think the McGill populace relatively mature enough to appreciate common organic fact slightly veiled in two lines which rhymed. Morality, it would seem, is readily obscured in prose; hypocrisy sits so cunningly on the shaking white-washed fence. Our motto then: an open gate and walls of glass through which even the most fastidious can see, and also notice their reflection if viewed obliquely.

IN A CHANGE OF VOICE we turn to fine contribution of one of our poetesses. We note here an interesting form which evidently caused the author some form of aesthetic hilarity, for in the second stanza the tone changes from one of mystical horror to a light laughing:

According to Two People

No owl
Or omened three
But near the bulky dome
Huge-shadowed under cloud-crossed moon
Almost I see
A witch

No
Owl or Omened three
But near the bulky dome
Huge-shadowed under cloud-crossed moon
Almost I see
A gnome?

—A. D. V.
Fascinating... but we didn't see it either.

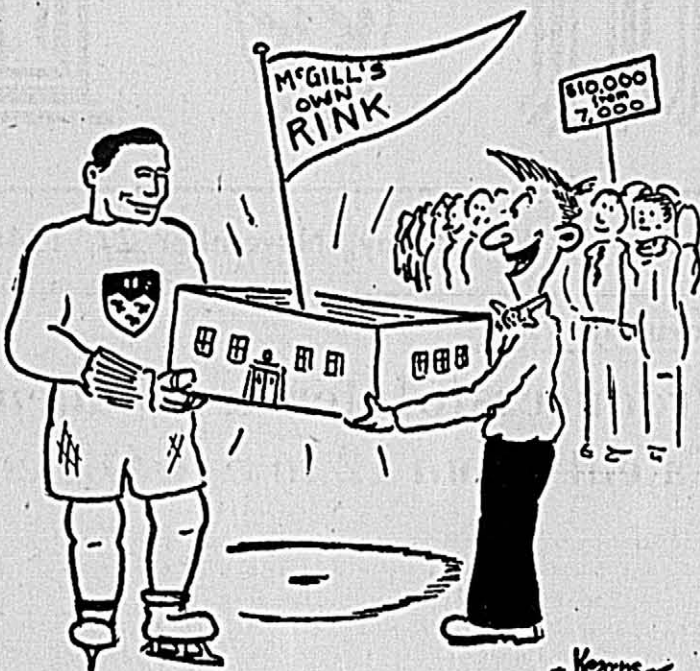

A UNIQUE FIGURE strode into the office the other day. In his hand he gripped a thin manuscript, and he wore spats over his ankles. In a thin voice he uttered, "I am a poet... look!" We looked, and now reproduce this faintly ironic piece, significantly untitled:

red blood, blue blood
flows sticky in veins,
red blood more darkly;
the proletarian feigns
scant ken of blue and attaches supreme importance to chromosomes and genes;
but blue blood
in the still quiet heart flows steadily and is much sought after by banks.

THE FORGE has announced prizes; the plot thickens; life is so full of little surprises.

Introducing

THE XAVERIAN WEEKLY

By ROBERT V. KAY

(CUP Editor—Xaverian Weekly)

A small monthly magazine appeared around the St. F. X. Campus and in the mail boxes of the alumni in the fall of 1896. Known as the "Excelsior" this little magazine took as its motto a sentence from the college hymn, a sentence containing the spirit of co-operation that has become the "St. F. X. Spirit of today:

"With grateful hearts let's all combine..."

The Editors in Chief of this first venture into the sea of journalism were M. A. MacAdam and J. W. MacIsaac, both of whom entered the seminary and were ordained in 1899.

Probably the greatest of the many difficulties the founders had to overcome was that of financing the paper. In making an appeal for funds the editors state:

"... nor will the currency of the country in their possession be rejected."

Of the original staff, three became priests, two doctors and two lawyers. Of the reporters, Rev. R. K. MacIntyre became Dean of Studies at the University and Rev. P. J. Nicholson graduated from John Hopkins with a Doctorate in Physics and two years ago became President of St. F. X. University.

In 1903 the word "Excelsior", which previously had meant "Striving after lofty ideals", and now had come to denote a packing material for dishes, was changed to "The Xaverian". At this time the paper had acquired a small press and a Mr. Arthur, who was employed as a full time printer. Mr. Donovan, from the town of Antigonish assisted on the busier days; little assistance indeed was necessary, as the little print

LETTER FORUM

The Editor, McGill "Daily"
Sir:—

I pen these words more in sorrow than in anger, considering always the possibility of personal bias and the fact that I am forced to limit my remarks to 300 words.

Yesterday winter arrived. Yesterday my only winter coat disappeared from the cloakroom in the McGill Union. Yesterday I spent a good part of the morning and afternoon stopping poor defenceless souls in black double breasted coats in the hope that they might have mistakenly taken my coat—but it was definitely no dice.

Now, Sir, I am certain that you will agree with me that this is a most unhappy situation. Here it is winter—I am coatless. I am easy to get along with—of a most tolerant nature concerning other peoples' faults. I have been known to turn the other cheek on observing a misguided soul in the process of robbing a poorbox. I have often kicked small children in the teeth and taken their last stick of gum. I have no scruples about taking pencils from a blind man or shortchanging a close friend. BUT THIS IS WITHOUT DOUBT AN ALLTIME LOW!

In the light of the above may I make the following appeal through the medium of your excellent publication. Please dear sir or madam, return my only winter garment to the Tuck shop or hang it where you found it. It is a black double breasted thing containing a pair of grey woolen gloves. It belongs to Mr. Alistair Fraser, Jr., and he is very very cold.

My final appeal is directed to the Union House Committee. I think that the majority of the interested students would be happy to see the re-institution of the checking system. I cry to you Mr. Townsend, from the wilderness and may my

Political Comment

"PEOPLE IN GLASS HOUSES..."

In view of the comments which followed the address of the Hon. Ian Mackenzie at McGill ten days ago, and the excellent pamphlet that the C.C.F. Club has felt the need to publish on liberalism we of the Liberal Club have a few points to make.

Firstly the Liberal club at McGill does not support the policy of the Government on the question of the Japanese. We have consistently registered our disapproval with the unhealthy tendencies shown in such a policy.

Secondly, the great majority of students do not seem to understand the position of cabinet ministers under our system of government. Decisions made in the cabinet whether an individual member personally disapproves or not bind all the members in cabinet solidarity. If a member feels so strongly that he cannot even allow his tacit consent he then offers his resignation. During question periods cabinet ministers are extremely interested to hear what views students have on different topics, but it is quite impossible for them to make a categorical statement on many subjects because these involve matters of government policy that no individual member of the government can decide.

Thirdly the C.C.F. seem to show an interesting lack of appreciation for the democratic system. Mr. Mackenzie and many other members from B. C. stand for and initiate policies that represent the will of the majority of their constituents. There is an element of truth in the statement that anti-Japanese legislation has largely been for economic reasons, but then who are the Parlor Pinks to talk, when the core of their platform is one of economic division and hate.

The great success that the C.C.F. has had in keeping its jealousy hidden liberal principles so pure is due less to their own efforts than to the good sense of the Canadian electorate.

For further proof of the dangerously liberal deviation that the C.C.F. finds in its ranks we commit the attention of students to the attitude of socialist leaders on the disgraceful violence that has characterized Canadian industrial

Dawson College Meets Y.M.H.A. Tonight in M.B.L. Tilt

Both Squads Strive To Stay Unbeaten; Leadership at Stake

Collegians Face Powerful Opposition in Blues Quintet

The as yet undefeated Dawson Senior M.B.L. entry invades the Sir Arthur Currie Gym. tonight for a scheduled encounter with the fast-flying Y.M.H.A. squad, in the first game of a league double-header, slated to get underway at 8.00 p.m. The loop-leading Migas, with two victories under their shirts, go after the Rock-landers in the nightcap.

In the Y.M.H.A. squad, the Dawson basketballers encounter a team with an unbeaten league record similar to theirs, and one which is fresh from exhibition victories over the McGill Intercollegiate crew, and the House of David. The Y-team, still dissatisfied with its record, has added Joey Richman and Dave Greenberg, who have just completed the football season with the "Big Four" Alouettes.

Among the other notable basketball veterans assembled for this crew, are high scorers Doody Bloomfield, Murray Waxman, Benny Lands and Kermit Kitman. The latter player, former Royal outfielder, comes to the Mount Royal Branch aggregation with previous basketball experience in Brooklyn.

Dawson coach Goldbloom however, leads a confident and well-conditioned powerhouse into battle. The playing mentor's opening lineup will probably feature an attacking unit of Bobby Forcand and the tip-top Talyors, Kenny and Vern. The guard posts will be filled by Bobby Duford and Goldbloom himself, while Frank Kaszas, Pop Keele, and Johnny Geary will be held in reserve.

A large crowd is expected at the Pine Avenue Gym for the Montreal unveiling of the St. Johns quintet, with a large number of opposing scouts among the onlookers. Goldbloom promises a large number of surprises and states flatly that there will be a gnashing of teeth as well as pulling of hair among the loop's managers after the performance. The Dawson team is young, aggressive, and presents a formidable array of top-notch talent.

Monsson Resigns

KINGSTON, ONT., Nov. 26. — Douglas Monsson resigned today as athletic director and football coach at Queen's University. A successor has not been named.

A former football star at the University of Illinois, Monsson came here last summer on a two-year contract. He plans to

Rink, Injuries Mar Practices Of Pucksters

The injury jinx, the constant fear of all coaches has finally parked on Dave Campbell's front step adding to his many other worries.

Latest victim is Jim Atkinson, promising young winger who suffered an eye injury at yesterday's practice session when he was hit in the eye by a hockey stick. The accident happened in the early part of the workout and trainer Harry Grimes sent the Westerner to hospital for repairs.

How long Atkinson will be out of competition is not yet clear but the damage is not as serious as it appeared to be at first and he may return to the lineup before the regular schedule.

Bob Broderick is suffering a sore shoulder from an old injury which returned as a result of Saturday's fray in Shawinigan Falls. However, he hasn't missed a practice in spite of the fact that he must play under a strain.

NEW PRACTICE RINK

In addition to these worries the coach will have to find a rink to carry on practices while the Ice-Capades take over at the Forum for ten days. In that ten-day period McGill play two scheduled games against Carabins and Varsity and will have no place to practice unless a suitable hour can be arranged at some other rink, possibly Verdun Auditorium.

However all is not gloom in the McGill camp. George Hale has rejoined brother Tommy and Reg Sinclair on the forward line and this trio are showing good form in practices. They are expected to be McGill's mainstay in the opening game in less than two weeks.

The Shawinigan game gave the Redmen the necessary competition they required and also gave Dave Campbell a chance to see his charges in action against a good senior team.

Classy Clarkson Cage Contest Features Frolic on December 7

Do you enjoy watching a rubber spheroid soar through the ozone in a parabolic arc, terminating its voyage by knifing through a circular steel hoop, accompanied by a sibilant swooshing sound as the globe drops through the netting suspended from the hoop? Hmmm?

Do you enjoy watching 10 colourfully uniformed, physically handsome young Adonis cavorting about a basketball floor; jumping, running, leaping, and generally succeeding in covering themselves with a thin film of perspiration? Hmmm?

Do you enjoy watching a couple of men dressed in white feverishly chasing after the aforementioned athletes, blowing whistles, shouting epithets, and behaving like it was the 24th of May? Hmmm?

Do you want to get rid of that tired washed-out, I-can't-wait-till-the-Christmas-vacation-starts feeling?

ONLY 75c

Well, you lucky student, this is all you have to do. Just skimp on your meals for the next few weeks (even if you have to go to the horrible extreme of eating at the Union), and save the magnificent sum of 75c. Or if you are male, and socially inclined, make it $1.50.

Then hustle around to the nearest ticket-seller and put your cash on the line for one great big economy-size ticket to McGill's super-duper (er ah, dooper) Athletics Night, all set for Saturday, December 7th. Yes, Athletics Night, spelt backwards is Thgin Scitelhta.

IT'S CLARKSON

But, you ask with big round innocent eyes, what is this Thgin Scitelhta? To which we say, read the Daily for the next few days, and find out. But we can give you one clue, there's going to be a visiting team of basketballers from a college called Clarkson in a small town in New York. Yes, these dandy dunks — let's make it less blasphemous and call them the Potsdam Yankees (that's the name of the town) — are coming north to engage our Lou Davies led McGill cagers in a nice sociable game of basketball, better known as "Please pass the spheroid to me Mother, you know you can't shoot worth a Potsdam".

So, remember kiddies, to get rid of that "I-shouldn't-have-gone-to-the-Prom-last-night-it-wasn't-worth-the-killing-three-friends-to-get-a-ticket" hangover, make the Athletics Night a red letter day in your little black-book to dispose of the blues.

Grid Star Calls for Support Of Rink-Auditorium Campaign

By MURRAY HAYS

On December 2 the Rink-Auditorium campaign will be initiated on our Campus, the objective being $10,000. To assure the success of this campaign, the total participation of all students would certainly act as a stimulus to our graduates whose reactions will vary according to the manner in which we contribute to this campaign. For instance, if we prove by our contributions that we are intensely desirous of acquiring this new structure and top the campaign goal appreciably, the graduates will not hesitate to contribute in a like manner.

You may ask how great the need of this new project — as you all know we have at McGill the finest hockey team in the Intercollegiate Union. By their grim determination and courage they defeated Toronto Varsity, a team touted to be the best amateur squad in Ontario, for the Intercollegiate championship last year. To build up and maintain the calibre of this team is no small task — it requires constant practice — practice is the keynote of all winning teams.

SQUAD HAS PROBLEMS At this point, I will summarize some of the problems confronting the squad. The only rink available to practice is the Montreal

Forum, where it is next to impossible to obtain suitable practice hours, the team now being allotted very inconvenient times; for example, 12.30 to 1.30, being the present practice hour. This hour is made use of two or three times a week at the most, giving on the average a total practice time of three hours per week — certainly insufficient for any top-flight team. This awkward time also causes great inconvenience to the players as far as lectures are concerned; the Forum also retains the right to cancel the time allotted for the convenience of Canadians, the Ice Follies, or any other organizations likely to bring more profit to the Forum.

Whereas the acquisition of the rink would be a great boon to our team and incidentally help to develop talent among younger players on secondary and interfaculty teams, do not feel that it will not be at the disposal of all students of the University — the rink and auditorium with a seating capacity of 10,000 will at all times serve

McGill Mermaids Prep For Intercollegiate Swimming Meet

By ELIZABETH TURNER BONE

Saturday night is D-night in Kingston where the coeds will battle for the intercollegiate swimming title. Along the with Western, Queens, Varsity, and McMaster, McGill will enter a starry lineup of swimming talent.

First on the list is Mary Holden, star of the McGill '40-'41 and '41-'42 teams. Before entering college she had made a name for herself by breaking the junior 40 yard record and starting on the M.A.A. team. Leaving McGill to join the forces, Mary kept up the good work by winning championships at No. 1 Training Command '43, Northern Saskatchewan '44 and No. 2 Air Command '45. As free stylist on the Red team she is expected to cop the honors in Kingston.

FRESHETTE ON SQUAD

Another asset to the team is freshette Joan Mount who began the watery art only five years ago in the Y.W.C.A. pool under the direction of Pearl Kirk. Since then she has swum in numerous Y meets and captained the Provincial Y team in '46. She finished third in the 1946 Dominion Free style 200 yards and second in the Provincial 100 yards back stroke. She is also Red Cross Water Safety instructor. Joan will be the back stroker in Saturday's meet.

Bobby Fenton, live wire of the team has held a position on it since she entered college four years ago. She is a well-known swimmer in C.A.S.A. meets and can be depended on to make a very good showing.

FANCY SWIMMERS

Pat Scott has crashed the team again and hold the position of ornamental swimmer. Observers have

Water Poloists Engage MAAA Twice Tonight

Water Polo will take over the M.A.A.A. pool again this evening as both Red squads swim into action. The event will be a McGill vs. M.A.A.A. doubleheader as the Juniors and seniors will all take to the aqua.

For the younger septet this will be their third contest of the season. They split the first two, beating Maisonneuve 10-4 and losing to the Y.M.H.A. Blues by a 9-4 count. The 'Y' has whipped M.A.A.A. 10-1 which adds up to that the latter and the Redmen are fairly evenly matched, with McGill slight favorites.

YNHA JINX

The seniors also have split the two games so far played. They overwhelmed the luckless Gaels from Kingston 15-2 but could not break the Y.M.H.A. jinx and lost a close one to the northenders 6-4. There is no admission charge to the pool and an evening's good entertainment and fast sport may be had by anyone interested.

Junior: Huggess, Cameron, Mullins, Parkinson, Hoffman, Flood, Davis, Oslerman. Seniors: Townsend, Palfiel, Young, Earl, Mahon, Cooper, Fineberg, Brenhouse, Ince.

Law and Eng Take Initial Cage Clashes

The intramural basketball league got under way last night at the Sir Arthur Currie gym. with Law and Eng. 4 posting the initial victories.

In the first tilt of the twin bill, the men from on top the hill smothered the ardent architects under a sixteen point barrage. At the same time they presented an iron-bound defence, holding their opponents to a field goal and a free shot. Hoffman and Gay led the budding lawyers with six and seven points respectively.

The night-cap was more closely contested and was marked by the extremely sloppy play by both sides. The muscle men of fizzed managed to outfumble their rivals and wound up on the short end of the 11-7 score, with the fourth year engineers on the other end.

Track star Lionel Fournier led his confreres of the brawn, chalking up five black entries in his ledger. The plumbers' markers were more evenly distributed, Peko leading the parade with four.

Next games are scheduled for Friday. 5.15 Phys. Ed. 1 vs. Arts 2. 6.00 Med 2 vs. Comm. 3 and 4.

McGill Fistic Prides In Exhibition Bouts At Y.M.H.A. Tonight

Action Starts at 8.30; Redmen In Initial Ring Appearance

By LARRY SIROTA (Daily Staff Writer)

McGill boxing fans will have the opportunity of estimating the Redmen's potentialities in the local world of fistiana, when Coach Irving Phillips trots out three of his best leather tossers against top men of other clubs in tonight's Invitation Boxing Tournament at the Y.M.H.A., for the first time this year. Action is set for 8.30 p.m. and a host of well-matched three-minute three rounders have been lined up to provide the excitement.

The boys sporting the Red and White tonight are Mill Orr and Syd Dakin in the welter class, and Bill Adams in the 165-lb. limit group. However, DeZwirek has found it very difficult to secure a rival for the slugging McGill lad, and yet it is doubtful whether Adams will see action tonight, as coaches of other clubs have expressed the desire of turning down a match between one of their prizes and the American boy.

In Freddy Leslie, Mill Orr has come up with a tough cookie. Zed's protegee has been around the fight circuit for quite a while and has plenty of moxie in the ring. He is hard to tag and cagey in the infighting. However, coach Phillips has instructed his boy to go out and carry the fight to the University Settlement representative and has extreme confidence in the blond slugger. Millie hits hard with either hand and it wouldn't surprise the ring experts one bit if the McGillian came up with a knockout win.

BOXER VS. SLUGGER

In the case of Syd Dakin, the circumstances are reversed. Syd is the cutie of the Castilloux school, the type of fighter who waits for

Shuttles Finals To Commence This Weekend

The birds twittered and chirped as they flew between the raquets of the contestants on the second night of the annual M.A.A.A. Invitation Badminton Tournament. The feathers literally flew as if at a shuttle-cockfight as the Red Men and Women battled it out with the representatives of the other local clubs.

The tournament with a record entry list, will not get into full swing until Thursday or Friday when the 62 out-of-town entries go into action; most of the visitors are from Toronto's Carlton and Granite Clubs but entries have also been received from Buffalo, Niagara Falls, N.Y. and Ottawa. Semi-finals will be played off Saturday afternoon and the finals on Sunday.

Last night's play saw Ron Dussault and Guy MacFarlane advance into the third round of the men's doubles. This duo easily disposed of H. Pickens and J. N. Chartier of M.A.A.A. 15-1 and 15-4. They then trimmed Bart Love and Al Townsend, also of McGill 15-5 and 15-10.

McGill's distaff double entry also managed to gain access to the third round but were subsequently eliminated in the fourth by Mrs. Hermitage and Miss K. Bell of the Al-water Club.

Dawson College, St. Johns, Que.

Editor McGill "Daily". Sir:— I would like on behalf of the Dawson rugby squad to register a vigorous protest against the actions of the McGill rugby squad in refusing to finish the three team schedule between McGill, Westmount-B.O.A.C. and Dawson.

Through our Athletics Department we were informed that a three or four team rugby league was to be operated, and that Dawson was to be accepted as one of the teams. Upon this assurance, Mr. Editor, the boys at Dawson, and much personal sacrifice, and under most adverse circumstances, formed a team, and whipped themselves into condition for the forthcoming struggle.

McGill played its scheduled games with Westmount-B.O.A.C., and then went on a trip to Toronto University, playing them a return game at Montreal. Dawson played its games with Westmount-B.O.A.C., and naturally expected to complete the schedule with McGill.

When our coach, Mr. Venters went into McGill to try to arrange the games, he was told by the honorary coach to see the manager, the manager said to see the captain, the captain said he'd have to see the team, as they had put away all "their gear" (what "gear" may I ask, and since when is gear put away before the completion of the schedule?) About the middle of the week our coach received a 'phone call saying they didn't know we had a team, and a few more evasive statements, all meaning that there will be no game.

Now Mr. Editor, if there were no league, surely the honorary coach, the manager, the captain should have known about it, and when we sought the games they could have denied (in spite of their having played two games in it) that there was a league. But no, there was no denial, instead our coach was given the "run around", and the telephoned reply was nothing more than a study in equivocation.

From the foregoing happenings, it would appear that the McGill rugby squad merely wanted some practice in order to put them in shape for the game at Toronto; after this end was achieved nothing else mattered.

The fact that McGill claimed the "Intercollegiate Championship", and the fact that Dawson has a claim to some consideration as part of McGill, though important points, are not the main considerations. The point that the team resent is the fact that, UPON THE ASSURANCE THAT THERE WOULD BE A LEAGUE, AND NATURALLY THAT THE LEAGUE WOULD BE COMPLETED, THEY UNDERWENT A LONG AND ARDUOUS TRAINING SCHEDULE, ONLY IN THE END TO HAVE MCGILL REFUSE TO FINISH THE LEAGUE.

We feel that explanation should be forthcoming from one of the multiple officers who apparently direct the McGill rugby squad, that will be a little more explicit than "we didn't know you had a team", in spite of the fact that we were in the league, and the very same league in which they had completed a part of the schedule.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for the space, I remain,

Yours very sincerely,

J. L. FAIRWEATHER.

Xaverian. Since then he has gone farther than any other St. F. X. graduate in the field of journalism. Today he is Assistant Managing Editor of the New York Times and has produced some striking Editorials.
